Topic: The signal and the noise

Brief on Topic: All our forecasts and predictions in area of health insurance, like in any other field, are very linear in assumptions. Three following areas ought to be borne in mind while embarking upon such an exploration:

- * Major revolution in life science
- * Research: Plethora of developments round the world and China in particular
- * Non-core: Are there blind spots stopping us from growing healthcare beyond the current confines. Say, the area of tort?

The presentation would challenge conventional wisdom and attempt transcend beyond the known mental barriers.
