Objective: Non-Life insurance is generally short-term business with most of the policies being renewed annually. The non-Life insurance and reinsurance business, at times long in tail has its own challenges in terms of the risk management. While most of the discussions in risk management are limited to long term Life insurance policies, mortality, investment, ALM, credit and other issues, non-Life insurers and reinsurers face risks that are diverse, unique, and challenging. Direct insurers and Reinsurers do apply a host of risk management principles in their day-to-day operations to ensure smooth control of the business.
