Background Note:

Actuaries have been considered as professionals working in traditional domains like insurance and pensions. However, the knowledge gained by actuarial subjects can enable Actuaries to work in new Financial Services domains like Banking, Asset Management, Alternate Assets, Corporate Finance and Risk Management. IAI has been trying to create awareness among the members to these new emerging opportunities by inviting experience practitioners in these emerging fields across different geographies.

The current webinar “Opportunities for actuaries in Banking: assessment of capital adequacy and Product pricing” brings an opportunity to hear from a Practicing Banking Actuary from UK, with around 40 years of experience within the domain which is a sunrise industry in India. This we hope will inspire many young and aspiring Actuaries to explore Banking as a career option. This will also provide an insight for experienced actuaries to explore senior management roles like Non-Executive Directors, etc. in Banks based on their profiles and experience. Overall, this is an initiative by AGBFI to help grow the profession into as many wider domains as possible.
